

Local Hydrogen Production for Energy Storage and Other Services

Maja Persson – University of Edinburgh

Abstract

Hydrogen has great potential for renewable energy, as it can be used for several purposes. Levenmouth Community Energy Project (LCEP) was set up to showcase this, providing energy storage and vehicle refuelling within a renewables-powered microgrid. This PhD uses LCEP learnings to find hydrogen's place in the energy system.